79.  A concise summary<sup>28</sup> of how the disclosure of substantial holdings and takeovers are regulated under the law of its home jurisdiction

Under Canadian law, where an acquirer makes an offer to all holders of the securities to be acquired pursuant to a take-over bid circular, the consideration offered must be identical for all security holders and the acquirer cannot offer "collateral benefits" to certain security holders (this can be an issue for employment contracts, stock options, etc., which may require exemption orders from the applicable securities commissions). If 90% of the issued shares of Simavita (other than shares of Simavita held by the acquirer or its affiliates) are tendered to the bid, the acquirer can "compulsorily" acquire the balance. Simavita shareholders who do not tender (i.e., who are part of the 10%) can apply to the court to have the "fair value" of their shares determined. It is open to make it a condition of the bid that there be no dissenting shareholders.
